We are delighted to invite you to the 5th London Live Endoscopy course! As last year, we will be addressing wide ranging diagnostic and interventional endoscopy, including ERCP, EUS, upper GI endoscopy, and colonoscopy. As well as our local team we will be joined by an outstanding national and international faculty. A combination of live endoscopy, state-of-the-art lectures, ‘tricks and tips’ breakout sessions and hands-on accessories tutorials will provide a real chance to advance individual endoscopic skills and decision making. A range of new or contentious areas in endoscopy will be covered, and a particular goal of the course will be to not only improve our knowledge of ‘how to do it’ but, crucially, ‘when to do it’. We hope that the course will encourage, challenge, and educate all those aiming to deliver excellence in clinical practice, including established consultants, endoscopy nursing staff, and endoscopy trainees.

Topics will include:

Pancreaticobiliary:
- Selective ductal access techniques
- Short-wire systems
- Needle-knife/bow-string sphincterotomy
- Pancreatic stenting/endotherapy
- Difficult stones
- EUS – FNA/biopsy/cyst management
- Cholangioscopy
- Mesh-metal biliary stenting
- ERCP in altered anatomy

Oesophagogastric:
- Advanced haemostasis
- Barrett’s assessment/HALO
- Stricture management
- EMR/ESD
- Fistula management
- EUS – tumour staging
- Post-bariatric surgery complications

Colorectal:
- Perfecting diagnostic colonoscopy
- Screening and surveillance
- Approach to large polyps (EMR, ESD)
- Colonic stenting

We also hope that the course will be an opportunity to relax, meet friends and colleagues, and perhaps take in the attractions of London.

This year our course dinner will be held in the Paramount restaurant, with fantastic views over the whole of London from the 31st floor of the Centre Point Tower. Delegates might wish to invite a guest to this special location, but we ask that the dinner fee and course fee are paid as soon as possible to avoid disappointment.

UCH is superbly positioned for easy access from the UK, Europe, and further afield, with national rail, underground, and Eurostar stations within walking distance of Hospital and Education Centre.

Tube Links:
Euston Square and Warren Street Stations are a short walk to the hospital.

A full range of budget and exclusive hotel accommodation is available nearby. The conference organisers will be happy to advise on request.
