EndoLiveRoma 2012
April 12 – 13, 2012
Rome, Italy

EndoLiveRoma 2012

After 13 successful editions and a five year pause, Prof. Guido Costamagna and his group from the Digestive Endoscopy Unit of the Catholic University in Rome are enthusiastically back with a renewed edition of the International Workshop on GI Endoscopy, now called “Endo Live Roma 2012”.

The Course will feature several Live Video Demonstrations of the most recent techniques of diagnostic and therapeutic digestive endoscopy used in extremely interesting and fascinating clinical scenarios. The Live Sessions will be spaced out by three State-of-the-Art Lectures on hot-topics of certain interest, a Mini-symposium on Small Bowel Endoscopy and Satellite Symposiums for the Industry offering the audience demonstrations and detailed explanations on new techniques and endoscopic devices.

Special attention will be paid to the educational value of this unique event. The interaction of the Chairmen and the Faculty with the audience will be central, and will offer the participants the possibility to discuss the clinical cases and the indication to the treatments face-to-face with the experts, and receive precious information and technical tricks.

All professionals interested in gastrointestinal endoscopy are the intended audience of Endo Live Roma 2012: gastroenterologists and surgeons predominantly. However, the management of GI disease and bilio-pancreatic diseases may be of interest to radiologists and general practitioners.

ESGE Individual Members are encouraged to take advantage of the 20% registration fee reduction.

Further information and online registration available at www.endoliveroma.it.
