Endolive Roma 2013

May 9–10, 2013
Rome, Italy

After last year's great success, with more than 500 participants, we are enthusiastically back with a new edition of the International Workshop on GI Endoscopy "Endolive Roma 2013".

The Course will feature several Live Video Demonstrations of the most recent techniques of diagnostic and therapeutic digestive endoscopy spaced out by five State-of-the-Art Lectures, a Mini-symposium on "Management of Pancreatic Collections" and Satellite Symposiums for the Industry offering the audience demonstrations and detailed explanations on new techniques and endoscopic devices.

This year, the Course will also be magnified by the EETC Open-Day. The European Endoscopy Training Centre (EETC), is celebrating its 10th anniversary and the Centre will be open the day after the congress (May 11, 2013) for anyone interested in personally trying some of the most advanced techniques of GI endoscopy on swine models, under the close supervision of our experts.

Further information and online registration available at www.endoliveroma.it.
