UEG Week, Berlin
October 12–16, 2013

The biggest gastro event of the fall is unmistakably the annual UEG Week, to take place this year in Berlin. Participant numbers are steadily rising, so it can be expected for Berlin to be bigger than ever! Don't miss the early-bird registration that closes on September 12, 2013.

As every year the ESGE would like to encourage you to make as much use as possible of the educational events at the ESGE Learning Area, and today we especially want to point you to the hands-on training biologic models. Thanks to the support of the industry and volunteer work of many internationally acclaimed experts this truly popular training will be extended to include several new procedures. For the first time the participants can gain insight into endoscopic ultrasound (EUS), endoscopic submucosal dissection (ESD) and fine needle puncture (FNP). Please check the calendar section on the ESGE website for details on the schedule.

The hands-on training is open to all fully registered delegates of the conference. Free tickets will be issued on-site at the ESGE desk, but there is a limit of eight people per work-table, and booking closes immediately when a session is full. ESGE Individual Member have the exclusive right to pre-register on-line, so why not do it right now. The order form is easily accessible in the members section of the ESGE website.
