ESGE is proud to publish in this issue a guideline on treatment of small bowel disorders. This guideline has been endorsed by the British Society of Gastroenterology (BSG). The guideline was developed by a working group under the leadership of Dr Marco Pennazio, Turin, Italy.

Dr Marco Pennazio, S. Giovanni A.S. Hospital, Turin, Italy

“This new ESGE Guideline analyzes in detail the performance of two complementary methods of enteroscopy, such as small-bowel capsule endoscopy and device-assisted enteroscopy, for the endoscopic management of challenging small-bowel disorders, including obscure gastrointestinal bleeding, iron-deficiency anaemia, Crohn’s disease, small bowel tumours, polyposis syndromes and coeliac disease,” stated Dr Marco Pennazio, first author. “It provides caregivers a comprehensive guide for the clinical application of enteroscopy.”

33rd GEEW

June 15–17, 2015
Brussels, Belgium

GEEW (Gastroenterology and Endotherapy European Workshop) focuses on endoscopic approach to digestive diseases and its integration in the multimodal management. It relies on State of the Art lectures and live video demonstrations performed at Erasme Hospital by local physicians in collaboration with international renowned experts.

It also includes “Questions and Answers” sessions and lectures entitled “Tips and Tricks” which are focused on some difficult aspects of therapeutic endoscopy.

An up-to-date literature review is commented and discussed throughout the meeting in relation with the procedures.

ESGE Individual members are encouraged to take advantage of the 20% registration fee reduction by registering before April 22nd, 2015.
