Meeting report

Quality in Endoscopy symposium: ERCP & EUS

November 13 – 14, 2015
Budapest, Hungary

The successful Quality in Endoscopy series continues, with the latest educational endeavor held in the lovely city of Budapest.

Prof. Lars Aabakken, ESGE president

“The multidisciplinary aspect was again demonstrated with excellent input from ESGAR and EASL. This enriches the programme, giving additional depth to the topics,” said Lars Aabakken, the symposium Co-Chair. “It was an exhausting two days for both faculty and participants alike but well worth the effort – this was the best quality symposium yet.”

Highly positive feedback was also provided by participants. Dr Osman Baran Torum from Turkey enthused: “Both theoretical and practical aspects are very well presented. It is an opportunity to keep in touch with very important expertise and to see the latest technology – the meeting is very good, both for the younger generation and more senior physicians like myself.”

Due to high demand, the hands-on training on Sunday was expanded. The organizer, Tomas Hucl, ESGE education chair, expressed his thanks to ESGENA for again supporting the training. Due to the excellent cooperation of all involved, the participants received extremely practical and effective training.

Meeting recordings will be available for the participants and ESGE individual members on the website.
