

ESGE News and Upcoming Events July 2017

Registration now open!

ESGE Days 2018

April 19–21, 2018
Budapest, Hungary

Numbers for both hands-on training and the Academic Skills Course are limited. Register now to avoid disappointment.

Full programme now available to view online

The scientific committee members have worked hard to develop an innovative programme which reflects the challenges you experience on a day to day basis.

From basic techniques to advanced procedures, including lectures, hands-on training, an academic skills course and live endoscopy demonstrations - ESGE Days has it all covered!

ESGE, ESGENA and HSGE members get the best registration rates for this event, so if you have not already become an ESGE Individual Member, now is the ideal time to join. To find out more about how to become an ESGE member, visit www.esge.com.

For more information and to register for ESGE Days 2018 visit www.esgedays.org

Apply for an ESGE research grant

Don't miss out! Apply online by August 15!

ESGE offers research support for original research projects in endoscopy/gastroenterology. Preference will be given to multi-center projects presenting original ideas by well-organized teams with a reasonable budget.

Dr. Rodrigo Jover

Dr Rodrigo Jover, ESGE research committee chair believes "These grants could be a great opportunity for constituting cooperative groups and also for proof-of-concept studies about the different aspects of gastrointestinal endoscopy".

Application is open to ESGE Individual Members working in a medical institution within the ESGE zone (Central and Western Europe, the Mediterranean and North Africa).

Hot off the press! ESGE guideline in this issue

ESGE Guidelines

"Indications, results, and clinical impact of endoscopic ultrasound (EUS)-guided sampling in gastroenterology: ESGE Clinical Guideline – Updated January 2017" from Dumonceau et al. Please read page 695 – 714 in this issue of Endoscopy. Free access at www.esge.com

Nineteen experts from 13 countries joined forces to update the ESGE Clinical Guideline on EUS-FNA published in 2011. Starting again from scratch, led by Jean-Marc Dumonceau, a new methodology was adopted to make clear recommendations based on the most recent evidence. More than 130 citations of articles published after 2011 were compiled for this guideline. The recommendations encompass all clinical aspects of EUS-FNA for GI diseases and will be helpful for gastroenterologists, oncologists, internists as well as surgeons to make informed clinical decisions in their day-to-day practice. An update to the ESGE technical guideline will be published soon as well.

Dr. Jean-Marc Dumonceau

When will we see you again?

25th UEG Week Barcelona 2017

October 28 – November 1, 2017
Barcelona, Spain

Learn about new work in your field: UEG Week features the latest updates in gastroenterology!

Due to the great success of the “From guidelines to clinical practice” symposia, UEG has created a dedicated pathway on Monday and Tuesday in addition to our popular “Advances in clinical gastroenterology & hepatology” featuring scientific breakthroughs on Functional GI disorders and GORD in 2017. Another highlight is the UEG Week Hotspot, a platform for the most controversial sessions and hottest debates. With the Postgraduate Teaching Programme, offered as a 3-year curriculum, you gain all major updates in GI & hepatology.
